

Nets all star player Devin Harris Visits Hawthorne's Lincoln Middle School

Pomptonian is proud to be a part of the 5th Annual "Take a Net to School" event. The New Jersey Nets, the Dairy Association and Dairy Council have teamed up to present this exciting event.

Michael Ulrich an 8th grader from Lincoln Middle school in Hawthorne was the winner of the Take a Net to School contest. Nets all star player Devin Harris picked up Michael and his brother in his white Ferrari and brought them to school. Ulrich's class was treated to an all star 3 -A Day breakfast. Sly the team mascot was there to celebrate and gave out some prizes.

Pomptonian has been working with the Dairy Council on their "New Look of School Milk" program. In this program the old milk cartons are replaced with plastic milk bottles. Hawthorne has seen a dramatic increase in milk consumption since the introduction of the bottles. The kids say the milk is colder and tastes better. Pomptonian is very excited about the increase in milk consumption in the district. The bottles do cost more than the cartons but the nutritional impact is worth it.

Dairy provides nine essential nutrients including calcium, potassium, phosphorus, protein, vitamins A, D and B12. Pomptonian and the Dairy council remind everyone to get at least 3 servings of dairy daily for stronger bones and better bodies.
